

Are you motivated, committed and interested in science communication?
Do you enjoy working on different specialist topics and are you a real team player?
Then we are looking for you to join our team at the next possible date:

Intern in the field of public relations/sustainability/industrial biotechnology

Your responsibilities :

- Researching and preparing information on sustainable business and industrial biotechnology topics
- Evaluation of news/press releases
- Creating and entering online contents
- Supporting the planning and implementation of online campaigns
- Maintaining contact with partners and customers, supporting the organization and implementation of events

Your profile:

- Ongoing studies or completed training in the field of communication, media, sustainability or biology/technology
- Experience with online contents, newsletters and social media
- Knowledge in the areas of sustainability and (industrial) biotechnology
- Very good research and writing skills
- Very good German and English language skills
- Good knowledge of MS Office and experience with CMS systems as well as newsletter tools are an advantage

For further information please contact Nicole Unger, nicole.unger@ibbnetzwerk-gmbh.com or +49 89/ 74 120-373.
We are looking forward to hearing from you.

The IBB Netzwerk GmbH team